

DESCUBRIENDO LA CIENCIA

Spanish Science Phrase Book

This is not your typical Spanish phrasebook.

Most Spanish phrasebooks are full of useful phrases, like "Hola!" and "Dónde esta el baño?" But this book is full of silly science phrases you'll hear Nuria and Alvaro say on Tumble En Español.

How to use this book:

- Read the phrases in Spanish and English
- Draw a picture of what the phrase means to you
- Listen to Tumble En Español to hear where the phrase is said

Get transcripts for more Tumble En Español fun!

We have transcripts available for each episode on the "Teacher Store" on our website! Just go to sciencepodcastforkids.com, and click on "Teacher Store" on the top of the page.

Dame esa píldora de caca. Ahora.

Give me the poop pill. Now.

Un batido de caca

A poop milkshake

Las terribles mandíbulas y las garras traicioneras

The terrible jaws and the treacherous claws

¡AAHHH! ¡Este insecto me está devorando!!

AAHHH! This insect is eating me!!

¿Las plantas escuchan? ¿Y nos están escuchando ahora?

The plants are listening? And they're listening to us now?

Operación astronómica encubierta

Undercover astronomical operation

La luna no está hecha de queso.

The moon is not made of cheese.

Solamente una siesta... ¡inaceptable!

Only one nap.... unacceptable!

Hola, ¿Qué tal? ¿Y si te meriendo hoy? ¿Qué te parece?

Hello, how are you? And if I eat you today? What do you think?

Soy un guepardo y estoy buscando una silla.

I am a cheetah and I am looking for a seat.

Share your science drawings with us!

Take a photo and email it to tumblepodcast@gmail.com,
or share with the hashtag #tumbleenespanol.

We'd love to share it on social media!

Find Tumble Science Podcast for Kids & La Coctelera Music on Facebook
Twitter: @tumblecast Instagram: @Tumblepodcast & @lacocteleramusic

sciencepodcastforkids.com
lacocteleramusic.com

